

AVAL VADAI | POHA VADA RECIPE

Pin it

I usually start most of my days either with poha or oats upma or cereals. When I was talking to my friend, the other day, she gave me this aval vadai recipe, since this aval vadai does not need any grinding and soaking part, immediately I want to give it a try, for my evening snack. Me and my husband really liked it, because it tasted almost like medu vada with crispy texture on outside and soft on inside. You can make this poha vada recipe either as a snack or for navarathri celebrations or diwali or krishna jayanthi. Also make this quick easy aval vada for unannounced guests. I bet kids will love this vadai for sure. Serve this easy aval vadai either with coconut chutney or tomato ketchup and hot tea.

- Heat oil in a shallow pan. Take a zip lock bag or Milk cover or banana leaf or polythene sheet and have 1 cup of water in bowl on side.

- Just wet your right hand in water, place the batter ball in the center of zip lock bag greased with water. Make a hole in the middle of the batter and carefully transfer it to the hot oil. Deep fry them on medium heat, until it turns golden brown on both sides. Continue the same process for each vadai.
- Serve hot with coconut chutney or peanut chutney or tomato ketchup and tea.

Tips

- You can use thick or thin variety of aval / poha.
- To make this vadai, use white or red rice flakes.
- If you feel your batter is watery, add little more rice flour.
- Adjust the spiciness according to your taste.
- If you don't have besan flour, just use rice flour.
- Addition of rice flour gives crispy taste to vadai.
- You can also add 1/2 tsp of cumin or fennel seeds, for easy digestion. Instead I added asafoetida for digestion.
