Knol Kohl Avarampoo Soup Recipe / Diabetes Control Soup

Going beyond blood sugar ? Looking for a soup to control diabetes ??? Here is the diabetic friendly soup – Knol Khol

Avarampoo soup recipe. Kohl rabi soup is an awesome soup packed with full of nutrients and fresh flavors. I used two main ingredients. One is Knol kohl is also called kohl rabi / German cabbage. Appearance is almost look like a cross between cabbage and turnip. I usually make kootu, stir fry and sambar with knol kohl. Knol kohl is rich in vitamin A, B, C and dietary fiber. It has anti-cancer and anti-diabetic properties.

The second one is avarampoo also called Cassia auriculata in English, Tangedu in Telugu and Taravar in Hindi.. This flowers are yellow in colour and is widely grown in remote areas. If you cannot find in your place, you can find dried form of avarampoo in ayurvedic medicinal shops (Nattu Marundhu kattai). You can make lot of recipes with avarampoo like kootu, tea, stir fry and soup. Avarampoo has lot of health benefits like it treats skin problems, cure body odour and it controls blood sugar (Diabetes). Both knol kohl and avarampoo are good for circulatory system.

To make knol kohl diabetic friendly soup, you need knol kohl, avarampoo, onion, garlic, tomatoes and spices. Spices added a nice flavor to soup.

Try to include this ayurvedic soup – knolkohl avarampoo soup once a week and it helps to reduce the blood sugar level.
